TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1864.

KENTUCKY LEGISLATURE.

IN SENATE.

MONDAY Feb. 1, 1864.

The Senate was opened with prayer by Rev. W. McD. Abert, of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The reading of the journal of Saturday was dispensed with.

RESOLUTION.

Mr. ALEXANDER offered a resolution in relation to the funeral expenses of the late Senator Boster, which was referred to the committee on Finance.

A MESSAGE FROM THE H. R.

A message was received, by Mr. Todd, Assistant Clerk, announcing the passage of several House bills and resolutions in which they ask the concurrence of the Senate.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR.

A message was received from the Governor, by Mr. PAGE, Assistant Secretary of State, announcing his approval of a number of enrolled bills which originated in the Senate.

Also a message from the Governor, in writing, enclosing a report from the Commercial Bank of Kentucky, and also nominating a number of gentlemen for the office of Notary Public.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. COOK—Public Buildings—A joint resolution providing for the appointment of a joint committee of two from the Senate, and three from the House, to enquire into the expediency of removing the Seat of Government from Frankfort to Louisville, and what would be the cost of doing so, &c.

Mr. FISK moved that the resolution be so amended as to direct the committee also to enquire into the expediency of removing the Seat of Government to Lexington: adopted.

The resolution as amended was then adopted.

The SPEAKER appointed Messrs. COOK and PRALL the committee on the part of the Senate under the resolution.

Mr. RIFE—Religion—A bill for the benefit of Union Church, in Shelby county: passed.

Mr. CLEVELAND—Banks—A bill to incorporate the Falls City Bank, at Louisville: passed.

Mr. FISK offered an amendment to the bill, which gives the tax on the stock to the common School Fund.

The bill and amendment were made the special order for 10½ o'clock to-morrow.

Mr. CLEVELAND—Banks—A bill to amend and reduce into one all acts incorporating the Masonic Savings Institution: ordered to be printed and placed in the orders of the day.

Same—A bill to incorporate the Exchange Bank of Kentucky: ordered to be printed and placed in the orders of the day.

Same—A bill to continue in force the 3d, section of the act of March, 1862, in relation to the Banks of Kentucky. [Continues in force the act allowing the Banks to suspend specie payments without forfeiting their charters.]

Mr. McHENRY briefly explained the bill and urged its passage. Before action on it the hour arrived for the special order.

SPECIAL ORDER FOR 10½ O'CLOCK.

The Senate bill "to establish a State School for Teachers" was taken up.

Mr. GROVER addressed the Senate at considerable length in favor of his amendment to the substitute for the bill, proposed by the committee on Education. He was an advocate of the objects of the bill. He spoke earnestly and eloquently in favor of educating young men for the profession of teachers. He thought while all the Charitable Institutions of the State were right and should be sustained by the funds of the State, that this was greatly ahead of them all in its importance and for the good results to be attained by the bill.

Mr. READ addressed the Senate in opposition to the bill at considerable length.

Mr. FISK also opposed some features of this bill. He was a friend of Education, and would if the Senate thought best to pass it, vote for it. He would prefer that the bill should be submitted to a vote of the people. He bore down pretty hard on local prejudices in relation to the particular locality where a teacher is educated. He spoke at length in relation to the subject of education generally.

Mr. BRUNER spoke briefly on the bill, he favored the plan of submitting the bill to a vote of the people. He was in favor of the objects at which this bill aimed. He was opposed to the original bill, but in favor of the substitute proposed by the committee on Education.

Mr. J. J. LANDRAM had an amendment read for information.

Mr. GROVER moved that the bill and amendments be recommitted to the committee on Education.

Some discussion arose on this motion; and the bill and amendments were recommitted.

U. S. SENATOR.

A message was received from the H. R., by Mr. LOWRY, announcing that they wished to postpone the balloting for Senator until to-morrow at 12 o'clock.

Mr. CLEVELAND moved that the Senate also postpone the balloting until to-morrow.

After some discussion

A MESSAGE FROM THE H. R.

Was received by Mr. Todd, Assistant Clerk, announcing the passage by that House of a joint resolution rescinding the resolution for going into the election of a United States Senator.

Mr. CLEVELAND withdrew his motion to suspend until to-morrow.

On motion of Mr. BRUNER the rules were suspended and the resolution of the House rescinding the joint resolution for going into the election of a U. S. Senator, was taken up.

After some discussion on the House resolution to rescind the resolution for going into the election of a U. S. Senator, the vote was taken upon it and it was disagreed to by the following vote, viz:

Those who voted in the affirmative were: Messrs. Baker, Black, Botts, Bristow, Cleveland, Cockrill, Cook, Fisk, J. J. Landram, J. D. Landrum, Power, Prall, Rife, and Whitaker—14.

Those who voted in the negative were: Messrs. Alexander, Anthony, Bruner, Duncan, Field, Gardner, Grainger, Grover, Hammond, Mallory, Marshall, McHenry, Read, Robinson, Sampson, Spaulding, Worthington, and Wright—18.

The hour of one o'clock having arrived—the time when by a joint rule for discontinuing the balloting for the day.

The Senate proceeded to other business.

BANK BILL.

A bill to continue in force the act of March, 1862, to allow the Banks to suspend specie payments: was taken up and passed. And then the Senate adjourned.

LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES.

Passed at the First Session of the Thirty-eighth Congress.

[PUBLIC—No. 5.]

AN ACT to change the place of holding the Circuit and District Courts of the United States, for the district of West Tennessee, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That hereafter the circuit and district courts of the United States for the district of West Tennessee shall be held at the city of Memphis, in said district, on the first Monday in March and the first Monday in September of each year, and at no other place. And all process, civil and criminal, which may have been, or hereafter may be, issued, returnable to said courts at Jackson or Huntington, in said district, shall be returned to said courts, respectively, at the city of Memphis; and all books and records of every kind, pertaining to said courts, shall be transferred from the places where said courts have heretofore been held to the city of Memphis.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That the judges of the United States circuit court, and of the United States district court for the several districts of Tennessee, may, whenever, in their opinion the public interests require it, appoint special terms of their respective courts at Knoxville, Nashville, and Memphis, to be held at such time as said judges, respectively, shall deem most conducive to the public good. Notice of each special term appointed under the provisions of this act shall be published in at least one newspaper printed in the town or city in which a term is to be held, for four consecutive weeks.

Approved, January 26, 1864.

Maj. Gen. Foster, in command of the Department of Ohio, has issued the following general order, forbidding the distillation of grain:

ASSISTANT ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, Lexington, Ky., Jan. 21, 1864.

On account of the scarcity of grain, the large quantities required for the subsistence of the armies, the difficulties of transportation from remote States, and the factious value given to it by the manufacturers of whisky, the distillation of grain is hereby prohibited within the limits of this Department.

W. P. ANDERSON, Assistant Adjutant General.

DR. JOHN BULL'S COMPOUND CEDRON BITTERS.

The Latest and Most Important Discovery of the 19th Century.

NO MAN'S name is more intimately connected with the history of the Materia Medica of the United States, or more favorable known as a pioneer in Medical discovery, than that of Dr. JOHN BULL, of Louisville, Ky. His inimitable preparation of Sarsaparilla, has long stood at the head of the various compounds of that valuable drug. His COMPOUND PECTORAL or WILD CHERRY, has become a household word throughout the West and South; and his Worm Lozenges, in less than a year after their introduction attained a reputation as wide spread as the continent of North America. But the crowning glory of his life remains to be attained in his latest discovery, or rather combination, for he does not claim to have been the discoverer of CEDRON, which is the basis of the bitters now offered to the public. That honor belongs to the native inhabitants of Central America, to whom its virtues have been known for more than two hundred years. Armed with it the Indian bids defiance to the most deadly malaria, and handles, without fear, the most venomous serpents. It is a belief with them that while there is breath left in the body, the Cedron is potent to cure, no matter what the disease may be.

While Dr. Bull is not prepared to endorse this extravagant pretension, he is, nevertheless satisfied from a thorough examination of the evidence relating to its virtues, that as a remedy and preventive for all diseases arising from exposure, either to changes of weather and climate, or to the miasmatic influences, it stands without a rival, and justly deserves the reputation it has so long enjoyed in Central America and the West Indies.

A full account of this wonderful plant may be found in the 11th edition of the U. S. Dispensatory, pages 1387 and 1388.

A series of experiments in which Dr. Bull has been for years engaged, has just been brought to a successful termination, and he is now enabled to offer to the public a combination of Cedron with other approved tonics, the whole preserved in the best quality of copper distilled Bourbon whisky, which he is confident has no equal in the world.

He might fill a volume of certificates, but the public have long since learned to estimate such things at their true value. The safest plan is, for every one to test for himself the virtues of a new medicine. Give the DYSPEPSIA, and its attendant train of symptoms, it acts more like a charm than a medicine. There is nothing in the whole range of Materia Medica, that can form a more bear comparison with it in this disease.

Are you Insured?

We call attention to the statement of the Etina Insurance Company in our columns this morning. This company was incorporated in 1819, and up to the present time its career has been uniformly successful. One of the best tests of an insurance organization is the promptness with which it meets its losses, and in this respect the Etina can take rank with any first class similar institution in the country. Frankfort has had ample proof of this.

When our State was first invaded by hostile armies, some other companies withdrew their agencies, but the Etina weathered the storm and from its present statement is still ready for emergencies. "Best is the cheapest," a good motto and true.

Dr. Mills is the agent here, and is ready to give strict attention to the business of his office.

The Paris Citizen, of Jan. 29th, says we very much regret to learn, that Lieut. Col. Thomas T. Vimont, of Millersburg, in that county, was killed on the 14th inst., near Chattanooga, in a personal difficulty with the Major of his regiment, the particulars of which we have not heard. Col. V. was a gallant officer and an excellent citizen, whose untimely death will be deeply regretted by our community. His remains arrived at our place, on Wednesday evening's train from Lexington, and were taken to Millersburg, for burial.

The Legislature of Missouri was subjected to a rather severe hoax last week. A dispatch was received, announcing the death of Mr. Wolf, representative from Platte County. A half day was spent in eulogizing the deceased, and all his shining virtues were brought out in strong relief. The usual resolutions were spread upon the journal, and the members put on the weeds of woe, and ordered the Hall to be draped in mourning. Then they adjourned to reflect the remainder of the day on the certainty of death, the uncertainty of life, and their manifold sins. The next day Mr. Wolf appeared, and took his seat, to the great scandal of the House which had buried him with appropriate honors, and seemed disposed to think he should have had sufficient respect for its action to remain under ground.

Diplomatic Correspondence.

The correspondence of the State Department with Foreign Nations during the past year, has just been published. The papers are very voluminous, and no abstract that we could make, with our limited space, would do justice to them. Suffice it to say, that the labor and talents which are displayed in the course of the correspondence, (as the Baltimore Clipper remarks), are well calculated to influence a feeling of pride in the heart of every American patriot, at the noble stand taken in every case of emergency in behalf of the interests of his country by Mr. Seward. By his great ability, he has more than one occasion, no doubt saved us from the perils of a foreign war in addition to the civil contest now on hand. To the ministers of the proudest nations of Europe, he has with a boldness and decision which showed that he was in earnest, and would be backed by our whole people, protested against the course they were pursuing in permitting rebel agents to fit out piratical vessels in their ports to annoy their commerce, and other acts at which they connived, and gives them plainly to understand that we will hold them responsible for their acts.

The result has been that, whatever may have been the wishes or designs of some of the powers of Europe, envious of our greatness and rising strength, Mr. Seward has forced them to respect our rights, and now, at the close of the year, there is scarcely a speck to mar the harmony of our relations with all the nations of the world, and from many of them we have the warmest salutations of friendship, with hopes for our speedy emerging from the gloom of our great civil war stronger and more vigorous and resplendent than ever. No man has ever filled the position held by Mr. Seward who has had so many dangers and difficulties to encounter—and we are very certain that none of his predecessors nor even John Quincy Adams, has evinced the great abilities in the management of our foreign relations that has been displayed by Mr. Seward.

In the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

Lou. and Nash. R. R. Co., Appellant, vs.
Jerry Collins, Appellee.

The argument in the above name railroad case was concluded on Thursday last, and the case submitted for decision. As the law questions arising upon this appeal are new, and of great interest to the legal profession, as well as to society at large, we will lay some of them before our readers.

1. Can a common laborer maintain an action against a Railroad Company for an injury received by the gross negligence of the Engineer, while each were engaged in the service assigned to them by the terms of their several employments?

2. Is it gross negligence for an Engineer in charge of a locomotive, to order a common laborer, whose employment only requires him to load and unload railroad ties and iron, to go under an engine while steam is up, without having the wheels blocked, or scotched, and remain in this perilous position for an hour; and, while the common laborer is thus situated, to permit, either accidentally or negligently, the engine to start and cut off both of the legs of the laborer?

3. When a common laborer hires himself to a Railroad Company, for the purpose of loading and unloading railroad ties and railroad iron upon and from a construction train, at the ordinary price of $1 15 cents per day, is a part of the contract that the common laborer takes all risks of injuries which he may receive by the gross negligence or gross unskillfulness of the Engineer; or does he only contract to risk receiving injuries only from ordinary negligence?

4. Are the rights and remedies of the common laborers in any way affected by the fact that he received the injury from the gross negligence of the Engineer, who was in a superior department of the service, and in command of the locomotive at the time, whose orders he was bound to obey, instead of receiving the injury from a fellow-servant, or co-laborer in the same department with himself?

Hon. J. R. Underwood argued the case on Monday and Tuesday, on behalf of the appellant. John L. Scott, of Frankfort, concluded the argument on Wednesday and Thursday for appellee. In consequence of the great issues involved in this case, the decision of the Court of Appeals will be awaited with much interest by the public.

Wigfall Once More on the Tapis.

Our readers all remember the inevitable Wigfall, formerly a Senator from Texas in the United States Congress. He was an original diabolist; was always drunk, and ever in a state of effervescence. He now figures as Senator from Texas in the rebel Congress, but for some time has been as mute as a Church mouse. But the opposition to the passage of the project of forcing the rebel soldiers to remain in the army indefinitely, roused him to life, and he made a speech—a long and windy one, from which a few extracts are annexed as a sample of the entire effort:

It was absolutely necessary that every soldier in the army should remain there, under the present organization, without any change of company, battalion or regiment. The status quo must be preserved. We could not afford to disorganize the army. Incompetent officers must be gotten rid of by examining boards. He meant what he said, and had said what he meant. The army and the country had been talked of in a manner calculated to produce confusion. The army was the country, and the country was the army. We are engaged in such a conflict as the world never saw.

Senators should recollect that there was discontent in the army. He believed that this discontent was groundless, but still it existed.

It was the fashion to talk about the bone and sinew of the country, and to speak of the planters and farmers as having all of the religion, cultivation, education and patriotism of the country. Talk of speculators, extortioners and Dutch Jews the farmers have been the worst speculators, extortioners and Dutch Jews of this war.

Has the population of the South changed? No. Have the Yankees driven out the people from their lands and put into their places the Dutch and Irish with whom they have threatened to colonize the conquered States? No. These are the people of the South who are fighting for their liberties or getting other people to fight for them.

And, singular to say, they think a great deal more of their negroes than of their sons and brothers. A gentleman of his acquaintance had, last summer, met a negro on the cars coming to Richmond to work on the batteries. The negro looked sad, and the gentleman inquired the reason. Sambo said he was sorrowful because his old master looked downcast when he parted with him; that his master had five sons in the army, but never grieved half so much at parting with all of them as with him. The patriotic planters would willingly put their own flesh and blood into the army, but when you asked them for a negro the matter approached the point of drawing an eye tooth.

A great change had come over the planters within the last two years. Two years ago, when that pink of gallantry and soldierly qualities was at Manassas, to keep his army from starving he wrote a letter to a farmer in Orange county, asking him to send him sixty wagon loads of corn and provisions; to pay for the grain and the expense of hauling the same as soon as he was in funds. On the next Sunday this letter was read at every church in Orange, and on Monday morning the sixty wagons, loaded with corn, were sent to General Beauregard, free of charge, and telling him to keep, also the wagons and teams. Such was the patriotism in Orange county then. Now, those very farmers will actually burn their wheat rather than sell it to the government at five dollars a bushel for the use of their own sons and brothers. They stood haggling about the price of pork per pound when their sons and brothers were living on a quarter of a pound a day, and sometimes had none at all.

"Oh, that my governor was seized with a remittent fever!" is sometimes the unflinching wish of a medical student.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.—The Miners' Register of Colorado Territory announces a most valuable application of the Keith process of desulphurization and calcination of ore containing gold. By this method ores lately yielding the art only one-fourth of the gold actually contained in them are made to produce eighty or ninety per cent, instead of twenty-five per cent. Should this statement prove correct, and we have no reason to doubt it, an immense impulse will be given to the production of the precious metal, and the changes to be produced in the nominal values throughout the world will be incalculably accelerated and increased.

The "tailings," or refuse of the mills, have for some time past been carefully laid aside for future use, in expectation of such a discovery as is now announced, and will prove to be in themselves mines of great wealth.

A Good Rule.—A certain man, who is very rich now, was very poor when he was a boy. When asked how he got his riches, he replied: "My father taught me never to play till my work was finished, and never to spend my money till I had earned it. If I had but an hour's work in the day, I must do that the first thing, and in an hour. After this I was allowed to play; and then I could play with much more pleasure than if I had the thought of an unfinished task before my mind. I early formed the habit of doing everything in time, and it soon became easy to do so. It is to this I owe my prosperity." Let every one who reads this do likewise.

The Newbern (North Carolina) Times says: "It is a remarkable fact, and one vividly illustrating the faithfulness of the Union volunteers in North Carolina, that in the First Regiment there has been but one deserter, and he a northern man by birth, and not one desertion from the Second."

Some surprise having been expressed by Western officers because of the omission of special mentions in General Thomas' report of the battle of Chickamauga, as published, it is but justice to that General to say that correspondents from Washington state that the report on file in the War Department embodies a full list of all that distinguished themselves under his eye.

Proclamation by the Governor.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 4, 1864.

The frequent outrages perpetrated in various parts of the State by lawless bands of marauders, can in a large degree be traced to the active aid of rebel sympathizers in our midst, or their neglect to furnish to Military Commandants the information, in their possession, which would lead to the defeat and capture of such marauders.

Sympathizers with the rebellion who, while enjoying protection from the Government, abuse the leniency extended to them by concealing the movements of rebel guerrillas, by giving them information, affording them shelter, supplying them with provisions, and otherwise encouraging and fomenting private raids, are in criminal complicity with all the outrages perpetrated by the marauders whom they secretly countenance.

It is in the power of persons whose sympathies are with the rebellion to prevent guerrilla raids, almost invariably, by furnishing to Military Officers of the United States or State of Kentucky, the information which experience has proved them to be, as a general thing, possessed of.

If all would unite, as is their duty, in putting down guerrillas, we should soon cease to be troubled with their raids. A neglect to afford all assistance and information which may aid in defeating the designs of marauding parties, can but be construed as a culpable and active assistance to our enemies.

I, therefore, request that the various Military Commandants in the State of Kentucky will, in every instance where a loyal citizen is taken off by bands of guerrillas, immediately arrest at least five of the most prominent and active rebel sympathizers in the vicinity of such outrage for every loyal man taken by guerrillas. These sympathizers should be held as hostages for the safe and speedy return of the loyal citizens.

Where there are disloyal relatives of guerrillas, they should be the chief sufferers. Let them learn that if they refuse to exert themselves actively for the assistance and protection of the loyal, they must expect to reap the just fruits of their complicity with the enemies of our State and people.

"VICKSBURG, Miss., Aug. 9, 1863.
"DEAR SIR—I am happy to state you that I have used your valuable Cedron Bitters, with great benefit to myself, in general debility and prostration of my system, produced by the unhealthy and miasmatic influences of the Mississippi River and around Vicksburg, having been with Gen. Grant's army throughout its whole southern campaign. I confidently recommend its use to all persons who are exposed in unhealthy climates."

AUDITOR'S OFFICE,
FRANKFORT, July 2, 1863.

No. 20, Renewal.]

This is to certify, that J. M. Mills, as Agent of the Etina Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn., at Frankfort, Kentucky, has filed in this office the statements and exhibits required by the provisions of an act, entitled "An act to regulate Agencies of Foreign Insurance Companies," approved March 3, 1856; and it having been shown to the satisfaction of the undersigned that said Company is possessed of an actual capital of at least one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, as required by said act, said J. M. Mills, as Agent as aforesaid, is hereby licensed and permitted to take risks and transact business of insurance at his office in Frankfort for the term of one year, from the date hereof. But this license may be revoked if it shall be made to appear to the undersigned that since filing of the statements above referred to, the available capital of said Company has been reduced below one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

[L. S.] In testimony whereof, I have set my hand the day and year above written.
